

Gopen's Reader Expectation Approach to the English Language: A New Tweetment

GOPEN'S
READER EXPECTATION APPROACH TO THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Write well, because you will be known to many important people in your life only through your writing. @GeoGopen

The 5-sentence paragraph taught in school – topic sentence, body, conclusion – rarely exists in professional prose. Forget it. @GeoGopen

Readers value the end of a sentence the most, the beginning a lot, and the middle so little it pales by comparison. @GeoGopen

“Avoid the passive” is the single worst piece of advice almost universally given concerning writing. @GeoGopen

In the real world – unlike in school – no one cares how hard the writer tried nor if the writer has improved since last time. @GeoGopen

 George D. Gopen is Professor Emeritus of the Practice of Rhetoric at Duke University. He travels the world as consultant to professionals and institutions whose success depends upon strong writing skills.
